

CURRO'S PURPOSE

We believe that the purpose of education is to empower all learners and staff to achieve their potential as individuals and members of society.

Our mission is to make independent school education accessible to more learners by developing, acquiring and managing independent schools in Southern Africa.

What does Curro do?

Curro provides independent school education to learners from age three months to Grade 12, making use of different education models that are based on:

- Christian values (ethics and morals)
- Child-friendliness
- Creative thinking
- Positive discipline

Approach to education

Prepares learners for the future, by providing excellent teaching and learning through quality, balanced, stable independent education that embraces 21st-century learning through innovative technology.
