

Windhoek Gymnasium Online

How does online learning work?

- All lessons are pre-recorded by teachers and made available online every Monday.
- Learners work through these lessons during the week at their own pace, and have to complete all lessons before the following Monday.
- Teachers check whether learners have completed their weekly lessons, and schedule live chats with them from time to time.
- Formal assessments and examinations will still be written at Windhoek Gymnasium.
- There are no activities (extramural, sports or cultural).

What are the requirements?

- Learners need access to a laptop, computer, or tablet with a minimum i5 processor, that runs on Windows 10, android, or iOS operating systems.
- The device learners use should have a camera for assessment purposes.
- A stable Internet connection such as LTE (4G) is crucial.
- A dedicated, quiet learning space will allow the learner to work without disruption.
- Learners need self-motivation and great discipline to keep up with their work.

What do the costs include?

- All textbooks and learning material.
- All software and educational applications.
- All classes (live lessons) and supportive material created by teachers.

What are the parents' responsibilities?

- Support the learner by motivating them and providing supervision when the learner struggles to remain dedicated.
- Monitor that the learner submits assignments and homework diligently (as with physical school).
- Attend parent meetings.

You won't ever have to teach your child – that's why we have teachers

Do you have more questions?

Send us an email:

Primary school: Danie Theunissen – danie.t@curro.co.za

High school: Abrie Myburgh – abrie.m@curro.co.za