2021, what a year – matric dance, matric valediction, preliminary exams, final exams and of course COVID-19. COVID-19 definitely made the keeping of traditions and the organising of events challenging. What I learnt this year was to not be afraid to ask for help from those around me. As they say, two heads work better than one. Your friends make school so much more fun so surround yourself with peers who want the best from you and lift you up. This way you will never fail. I would advise other and prospective leaders to get out of their comfort zones and press for new and unique ideas at your school. Reach out to people with whom you normally don't associate. From the heart, school isn't that long – make the most out of it. Work hard and play hard with your friends, celebrate your victories and just hold on because in the blink of an eye you will be out in the real world. In the words of Dr Suess, 'Don't cry because it's over, smile because it happened.'

HEAD GIRL: Safaa Jina

Over the last 12 years I have walked a journey that many walk. However, each of our paths are different.

Primary school is like a long-lost memory. But Grade 8 seems like it was just last year. I remember orientation and the first time wearing my Curro blazer. I can so clearly recall my first high school hockey game, and my very first register class, which was a clown of a class if I may add. Massive shoutout to the first E5 class of Curro Nelspruit.

Looking back, I've made the best memories and even better friends. Along the way, I've stumbled over some unseen rocks and battled past the obstacles in my path.

My journey is now at an end; I can very clearly see my destination, which by the way, is only a brief stop before my next adventure.

I advise every learner to enjoy every moment of their schooling experience. It slips by so quickly; savour every moment.

Enjoy the sports days, the assemblies, and bantering in class with your friends. Speak to new people, make new friends. Try out a new sports or cultural activity.

My last bit of advice is very controversial, but I stand by it and I wish that someone had told me this sooner: it is okay to quit. If you've tried your best but you feel like a certain thing is not good for you, quit. It is okay to have a bad day, or even a bad week. You do not always have to have everything figured out. Plan, but leave room for changes.

Unfortunately, my last two years were 'ruined' by COVID-19, but that doesn't make it any less special. I still cherish the memories we made via online classes and through House Party with my friends. Don't let COVID-19 be a reason to stop having the time of your life.
