CURRO
Mount Richmore

Listen to advice and accept discipline, and at the end you will be counted among the wise.

Our final year at Curro Mount Richmore. One filled with laughter, tears and piles of exams. As we draw closer to the final chapter of our high school years, various thoughts fill our heads, such as: What am I going to do next year, will we still be friends, are the finals going to be hard? These are questions that only the future can answer. A future that is so uncertain, it's scary. One thing, however, is certain Curro Mount Richmore will forever be a part of who I am, what I have become and the future I am yet to build.

One cannot mention the future without talking about their past. Your past is what sculpted you into the exemplary person you are today. I am truly grateful and blessed to have Curro Mount Richmore as the sculptors of my future. Curro Mount Richmore has moulded me into the person I am today. The staff, teachers and coaches have equipped me with not only the necessary tools, but the necessary mindset to excel in the outside world. I have achieved greatly on my path here, but nothing would have been possible were it not for the hands of the Lord and the staff at my amazing school who have guided me to be the best person I could possibly be. I plan for a future filled with love and success.

My dream is to play rugby in France one day, representing my family and school, holding their names high. If it were not for the time and effort invested in me by Mr Shaun Blignaut, my family and school, this dream would never be able to become a reality.

My peers and I really feel sad that our final year at our lovely school is coming to an end. Curro Mount Richmore has had an absolutely positive impact on my life, as well as on many of my fellow matriculants. Ever since I started at Curro in Grade 6, I have received tremendous amounts of support, encouragement and positivity from our school community.

Curro Mount Richmore brings out the best in each and every one of the learners by helping us gain more confidence in everything we do, empowering us to always be the best we can be and providing support to prepare us for life beyond school. Having had teachers who are super uplifting and supportive, my schooling years will be a fond memory that I will always look back on with a smile.

My teachers have been kind, caring and nurturing, always placing their learners' well-being at school above their own; this was clearly shown in subjects where participation levels were high as learners displayed their love towards these subjects and their teachers. These teachers not only taught us; they have inspired us, helped us grow and encouraged us while teaching. Each learner has had the opportunity to express and be themselves in these positive classroom environments.

I feel extremely grateful and privileged to be able to call Curro Mount Richmore my second home. Next year I plan to study at Stellenbosch University, and without the guidance and knowledge gained from my amazing teachers at Curro Mount Richmore, this might have felt almost impossible.
